Borough Council Sets Up Authority Of Five Members To Purchase Water Company

The borough council at its regular June meeting in the engine house Monday night, adopted an ordinance setting up "The Gettysburg Municipal Authority" for the purchase of the Gettysburg Water company, and named the following members:

Ralph Z. Oyler, for a term of one year.
Henry W. Garvin, for a term of two years.
Dr. Roy W. Gifford, for a term of three years.
George T. Raffensperger, for a term of four years.
Ray M. Hoffman, former councilman and council president, who was chairman of the special committee which investigated the proposal to buy the water company, for a term of five years.

Application will be made to the state to incorporate the authority under the Municipal Authority act of 1945. Burgess C. A. Heiges, Council President H. M. Oyler, Mrs. Anna Dracha, borough secretary, John H. Basehore, borough treasurer, and members of the council were named incorporators.

Committee Urges Purchase
The action to form the authority followed submission of a report by the special committee headed by Mr. Hoffman, in which the committee said:

"In view of the opportunity that the water company can be purchased by an authority, set up by council, and will in no way obligate the borough and not place a burden on the taxpayers nor the water consumers, it will be highly desirable and advisable to purchase the water company, which will be for the welfare of the community. Your committee, unanimously, recommends the purchase of the Gettysburg Water company."

$600,000 In Bonds

Members of the committee, besides Mr. Hoffman, were Burgess Heiges, Councilman George D. March, Ralph Z. Oyler and Henry W. Garvin, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The common stock of the company is owned by the Northeastern Water company, of which John H. Ware, Jr., is president and chairman of the board.

On March 16, Mr. Ware appeared before council at a special meeting at which he submitted a proposition to sell the stock to a municipal authority for $450,000, the authority to issue bonds for that amount in payment for the stock, and additional bonds in the sum of $75,000 to take care of anticipated improvements. This is the proposition approved by the special committee and council.

Besides these bonds, the borough authority will issue $75,000 in bonds to be placed in escrow to guarantee performance and earnings of ten per cent, bonds to go to Mr. Ware upon completion of the contract.

40-Year Bonds

Mr. Hoffman reported that improvements and new construction would be completed within five years. (Please turn to Page 7)

RAILROAD AND COUNCIL WILL ASK CROSSING

Borough council voted Monday night, at its meeting in the engine house, to join with the Reading company in an application to the Public Utilities commission for a grade crossing over the Reading tracks on West Lincoln avenue, after receiving a communication from the railroad stating that signal lights on the crossing "probably" will not be necessary.

Total cost of the crossing, under the revised plans, would be $2,690. The cost to the borough, as set forth by the Reading company, would be $1,005 and to the railroad, $1,685. The new plans call for flagging at the crossing by members of train crews instead of having flasher signals. The Reading company said both it and the Western Maryland railroad had agreed to this plan.

Building of the new crossing, which will provide direct access to the plant of the Inductive Equipment corporation, will close the old "brick yard" crossing. Barricades will be erected.

"We now find that it will be practicable to stop trains and flag this crossing, which practice, from our experience with former cases before the PUC should avoid the necessity of providing flashing light protection," a letter from E. L. Gossnell, chief engineer of the railroad said. "The Western Maryland railroad has advised that they are agreeable to following the same practice."

STATE FAVORS TRAFFIC LIGHTS IN SQUARE HERE

Traffic signal lights have been approved for Center square by the state highway department, "whether we have the circle or not," Burgess C. A. Heiges reported to the borough council Monday night at the council meeting held at the engine house.

A map submitted to the council by the burgess showed eight lights approved for the square, two on each corner of the four intersections.

Council approved the plans, but took no action on installation. Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner said that the borough has several traffic lights which can be salvaged and used. Others would have to be purchased, and the lights will need new mechanisms.

Approve Other Lights
The borough engineer pointed out that the state has already approved traffic lights for five other intersections.

"We asked the people of Gettysburg to express their sentiments on whether the circle should be eliminated or not," Burgess Heiges said. Out of 6,000 people in the town, we got six letters and four verbal replies. Six wanted the circle left as it is, two wanted it eliminated and two wanted the trees and shrubbery removed and a statue of Lincoln erected," Heiges said. "Three of the replies were from organizations."

The burgess added: "We should have had more responses. People say nothing but complain later if changes are made." He recommended that the circle be left, but that the trees be lowered, tall ones removed, and lights installed. "The state will not ask us to remove the plot," he said. "The lights have been designed for use with the circle."

"Illegal Light"
A letter from the state highway department informed council that a traffic cone at Carlisle street and Lincoln avenue showed that the present traffic light is not needed at this intersection, and decreed that it is operating illegally at the present time. It recommended its removal.

Members of the council expressed their opposition to abolishing this light, and defended it as a necessity in controlling traffic and avoiding accidents. They will make an informal vote on the matter. (Please turn to Page 8)

Korean Wasps Released On Campus To War On Beetles

More than 150 Korean tiphia wasps were released Monday on the Gettysburg college campus to aid in the war on the destructive Japanese beetle. The local campus is one of 10 new battlefields established by the state in the war on the beetle.

Colonies of the wasps — deadly enemies of the beetle — were established by the State Agriculture Department in 10 spots heavily infested with Japanese beetles.

Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, state entomologist, explained the wasps immediately burrow into the ground and begin laying eggs. They lay from 200 to 400 eggs each, he said, always attaching them to soft underside of a Japanese beetle grub.

Once the egg hatches, the wasp eats up the beetle grub.

The wasps are now at work in sections of 26 counties. The colonies started in 1934-35 at Valley Forge and at the bureau's Summerdale farm near here are now so large

PLAY PROGRAM OF TOWN TOLD TO ROTARIANS

The desire of two local men to play tennis led indirectly to the establishment of the Gettysburg Recreation Association, Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putnam revealed Monday evening at the regular meeting of Rotary at the YWCA.

Discussing the background of the present recreation association, the local minister who recently was elected president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran church, praised Paul Kinsey, who moved from here several years ago, as "one of the most public spirited citizens the town ever had."

Doctor Putnam and Kinsey had a mutual interest in tennis. Doctor Putnam recalled, and about ten years ago, after playing on courts wherever they could find them, decided that perhaps not only they, but others might be interested in playing tennis on courts in Gettysburg.

Dr. Putnam said that he, Kinsey and Sydney J. Poppay, local theater manager, "drove out one afternoon to see if the courts at Gettysburg college could be released for play by local youngsters and citizens during the summer. We learned that it was impossible during that particular summer due to repairs being made, and on the way back into town we began to discuss why Gettysburg should not establish some sort of play facilities of its own. We stopped the car at the square, got out and each went his own respective way. A short time thereafter we got together again with a few more individuals who became interested and started a formal move to have a playground here."

Cites Cooperation

The result of that move was the establishment of the local playground at the high school.

"It was fascinating to see the cooperation that was shown by all of Gettysburg. Organizations, churches and individuals donated funds to purchase equipment. The school board donated land and the borough authorities gave funds for supervision. An able board was set up jointly by the school, town and borough. (Please turn to Page 8)

Gettysburg's streets, back yards, alleys and streams will be sprayed from the ground instead of from the air in the 1948 resumption of warfare on the pesky mosquito.

Borough council at its regular meeting at the engine house Monday night voted to employ Vogel-Ritt, Inc., to "fog" the town with a DDT and oil solution with an apparatus known by the patented name of "Tifa."

Trucks equipped with the sprayer will cover each street and alley in the borough, spraying both sides with the DDT fog which has a representative sail will carry 75 feet. In addition, extension lines will be used to reach streams and other places not accessible from the streets.

The spray will be effective against mosquitoes and flies and to some extent against Japanese beetles, it was reported.

The cost is $990 for two sprays, or treatments, plus checkups after the sprays are applied. The spraying would cover approximately 400 acres. Council voted to have one application of the spraying done, at a cost not to exceed $495, and will ask the Chamber of Commerce and the National Park authorities for donations. The spraying can be done within a week after the company is notified, it was announced.

Council awarded the contract contingent upon the company's acceptance of a one-spray proposition. Robert E. Lake, representing Chris D. Stoltzfus, Coatesville, the firm which sprayed Gettysburg last year from an airplane, quoted a price of $592 for a single spraying by plane.

NEED FOR MORAL REHABILITATION IN WORLD CITED

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

There is a growing mass of opinion in many countries that no real world recovery can be achieved unless it is founded on moral rehabilitation.

During my travels abroad since the war I have found both statesmen and the general public reaching for new moral support. Churches and religious organizations have been swinging into action to meet the crisis.

That isn't strange when you stop to consider the widespread moral destruction wrought by the conflict. Some of it was deliberate, for Hitler undertook to kill moral values so he could more easily persuade his people to follow him in his barbaric aggression.

One Bright Spot

Many European countries still are struggling in the immoral morass he created. And, quietly but persistently, Bolshevism continues the anti-religious crusade on the premise that religion is the "dope of the masses" and renders them less pliable under aggressive totalitarian dictatorship.

Therefore many observers find great encouragement in the world assembly being held in California to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Moral Re-Armament. Attending the assembly are political, industrial and labor leaders from some 24 countries, including representatives from the crucial areas of Europe and the Far East. Dr. Frank Buchman, the Pennsylvania clergyman who founded M. R. A., set the conference in motion with a world-wide broadcast in which he referred to the scope of MRA thus:

"Moral Re-Armament is the good road of an ideology inspired by God upon which all can unite. Catholic, Jew and Protestant, Hindu, Moslem, Buddhist and Confucianist — all find they can travel along this road together."

And Paul G. Hoffman, European Recovery Program administrator, further interpreted the movement in a telegram saying in part: "You are giving the world the ideological counterpart of the Marshall plan."

So the assembly has got underway, to devise means of meeting a crisis which A. R. MacKenzie, member of the British delegation to the United Nations, sums up like this: "Without an inspired ideology democracy flounders before the advancing tide of totalitarianism, and economic and military aid fail of themselves to turn the tide of alien materialistic ideas."

In the language of the layman, MRA is "practical religion." That is, it calls on the individual to put into practice on week days what he hears taught from the pulpit on Sundays, and not leave his good intentions behind him in church. It is non-sectarian.

DUFF LAUDED BY CARROLL REECE

Harrisburg, June 8 (P) — Gov. James H. Duff "has caught the imagination and interest of people all over the country," says Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman.

Reece made this comment here yesterday at a meeting of GOP leaders, and later told reporters that "Governor Duff is qualified for any position."

The Republican party chairman made the latter remark in response to a reporter's question as to whether he thought the Pennsylvania governor could be considered a presidential possibility. Duff, however, has insisted that he is not a candidate for any office.

Reece at the same time predicted that the GOP will carry Pennsylvania "without any question" at the November election.

However he warned that "despite disintegration of the Democratic party and the breakdown of the administration in Washington," Republicans must organize to face hard opposition.

Reece repeated a forecast that President Truman, if re-nominated by the Democrats, will carry "no more than four states" outside the solid south.

The national chairman, at the same time, said the GOP will increase its majority in the U. S. House of Representatives "and pick up two or three more seats in the Senate."

Freeze Assets In Tax Probe In Philadelphia

Philadelphia, June 8 (P) — Assets of persons being questioned in the shortage of city tax funds were frozen by a court injunction as two municipal officials demanded a grand jury probe of fund shortages and mismanagement in their office.

The action by Judge Eugene V. Alessandrini yesterday specifically barred the persons named in a note left by William Foss, an employee of the city amusement tax office, from disposing or transferring their assets for a 30-day period.

The Foss note, made public for the first time since Foss hanged himself two weeks ago, was titled "how the shortage in the amusement tax office was divided" and contained the names of a number of men.

Turnpike Extension Is Opposed By PHA

Harrisburg, Pa., June 8 (P) — Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to the Philadelphia area was opposed Monday by the Pennsylvania Hotels Association as an encroachment of "individual rights."

The Association declared that the whole theory of toll roads is an "encroachment of bureaucracy on home rule and individual rights."

At the same time, the Association, in an editorial in its publication, The Pennsylvania Hotel Herald, hurled a charge of "bureaucracy" against the Turnpike Commission for proceeding with plans for the 100 mile eastern extension to the present super highway.

Informed of the association's criticism, Thomas J. Evans, commission chairman, said "it's the first I've heard of their opposition to the new extension."

CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEET

Boston, Mass., June 8 — Declaring that democratic government is the instrument through which an irresistible, spiritual force is being channeled into the affairs of men, The Christian Science Board of Directors Monday urged Christian Scientists, in annual meeting here, to work strongly and actively for the defense of free governments throughout the world.

Rightly conceived, the directors told the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., democratic government is something more than an aggregation of legislative acts and legalized rules of conduct.

"It is the orderly unfolding of the moral character and spiritual integrity of its citizens," the spokesmen for the world-wide Christian Science movement affirmed. As such, they said, free government rightly merits active defense of its sacred purpose, in addition to the pious declarations of allegiance to its outer form.

Thousands of Christian Scientists from many parts of the world heard the directors issue a distinct challenge to the proud, boastful "Goliaths of today, as they go to and fro in the earth denying God, they are denying their own life, for God is the only life of man," they stated.

In free governments, now seriously endangered by the modern Goliaths, the directors commented, there is a force that gathers its strength from "the same eternal truth given by Christ Jesus in his peerless Sermon on the Mount." Ultimately it shall be seen, they said, that "no individual or nation on earth can withstand the power and presence of God and His Christ."

The incoming president, Harry C. Browne, whose only official duty is to preside at the annual meeting, declared that the success of any organization, institution or government depends upon the spiritual efficacy of the governing or controlling instrument.

Cities Battle On Television Right

Washington, June 8 (P) — Use of television channel No. 8 for "stratovision" broadcasting over a 200-mile radius around Pittsburgh has been requested of the communications commission by the Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc.

Westinghouse asked the commission yesterday not to assign the channel to any other city within that radius. The company also requested that the commission's proposed assignment to York, Pa., be cancelled.

"Stratovision" broadcasting involves the use of an airplane serving as a relay between a ground studio and the receiving audience. Westinghouse said its experiment had indicated successful televising over a 200-mile radius as compared with the average 50-mile radius which can be reached by a land station. The notice was filed in connection with the public hearing which FCC has scheduled for June 14 on re-allocation of the 12 available television channels.

York has been allotted one channel. This was No. 1, which the commission has transferred to indus-

Today's Talk

JUST RELAX

You can go to the doctors until the last cow has been plowed in its shed. You can journey the earth in search of peace of mind. You can experiment with a dozen theories, hoping for a relief from worries, or the problems which beset you, but unless you learn to relax you will end up disappointed.

One of the most valuable lessons to be learned in life is this one of relaxation. The heart — busy as it always is — relaxes half of its time! Otherwise none of us would live but a part of our average, or our scriptural allotted span of three score years and ten. Those who live beyond this period are usually those who have learned this valuable lesson.

The human machine is like man's mechanical one — if it is pushed too hard it will wear out that much sooner. People who relax daily, or who take time for regular changes and vacations not only live longer — but more happily. The day laborer who goes home to his simple supper, and to his pipe and newspaper, sleeps best, and rises strongest.

This unhappy world of ours is full of fears. But each one of us can well rid ourselves of many of these fears by relaxation, meditation and prayer. It is amazing how quickly the nerves respond to just a little relaxation. These nerves of ours are the electric lines of the human body. There isn't a single inch that is not penetrated by them. One vital part out of order and the entire system suffers. Nerves get tired, too, for they have a tremendous job to perform. Just relax, and all the head stations will send an immediate message of — "Thank you!"

Talk with a delightful friend relaxes one. So does the reading of a good book. The reading of an inspiring book, just before retiring for the night, is far more potent than any "sleeping pill." Potent pills can never replace thrilling and pleasant thoughts. Make up your mind that you can sleep — and you will sleep.

Tension is a killer! Just relax and note the immediate effects. One of peace and ease of mind. One in which every organ of the body joins. In relaxation there is unity of mind, body and spirit.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Ben Hur Lampman."

THE COMMON COLD
All doctors, whether young or old,
At me will shake their heads and say:

"We cannot cure the common cold;
As yet we haven't found the way.
And very strange that seems to me,
Since friends and neighbors all are sure

They've found a simple remedy,
They'll guarantee my cold to cure.

My doctor says: "Just stay in bed!"
Five bucks for that he charges me.
My neighbor has a pellet red.
That he prescribed without a fee.
When coughing round the place I go,
Of pills or syrups I am told.
It seems that all but doctors know
The way to cure the common cold.

Old women plasters will suggest.
The bankers seem to favor pills.
Some rub with oil the tortured chest,
And others take a dose of squills.
Though doctors timid seem to stay,
Repeating doubts that still they hold;
All others have a favorite way
They'll guarantee will cure a cold.

GERMANS ARE RETURNING TO WORLD FAMILY

By RELMAN MORIN
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

A British general was talking with newspapermen in Berlin the other day when he dropped a remark that must have jolted even those professional shock absorbers.

He put it into two sentences:

Yet those two sentences probably are more important than all the thousands of words that went into, and accompanied, the recommendations for unifying Germany which were announced yesterday. This is what General Sir Brian Robertson told the correspondents:

"Just as we are a Christian, civilized people, the Germans are also a Christian, civilized people. They should be treated accordingly."

Official Policy

Assuming that the general was expressing official British policy and it would be difficult to assume otherwise considering his position—that is a statement of tremendous magnitude. General Robertson is the head of the British control commission in Germany.

Before moving on to the meaning of this, and its implications, let your mind go back three years to the summer of 1945. In entering Germany, General Eisenhower announced: "We come as conquerors not as liberators."

American soldiers were forbidden to "fraternize," as the saying was, with German girls. At that time, German girls were neither "Christians" nor "civilized."

Only Three Years Ago

At Dachau and Auschwitz, the corpses were found, piled up like cordwood. And the four powers were rushing to establish the tribunal that finally brought Goering and Keitel and the others to Nuernberg.

That was only three years ago.

But today, if General Robertson's statement can be taken as a statement of policy, all this is past, done and forgotten. What's more, it is forgiven. The German people, as of today, stand absolved of all war guilt. Henceforth, they are to be treated as equals.

It seems very unlikely that this was an isolated pronouncement. More probably it is directly connected with the announcement of the London conference commendation for Germany.

Should Be Grateful

American, British and French delegates have advanced a plan to unify Western Germany, establish a supervised German government, and start the economic engines again.

But more important, there must be a foundation for this in a new status for the German people. The Germans must be induced to work willingly and with a purpose, which they would never do so long as the status of a conquered people, much less the policeman—and-criminal pattern, remains.

Three years after VE Day, the Germans are coming back into the family of nations.

They should be very grateful to the Russians. It is Russian obstructionism and intractability that made this step necessary for the western powers.

PROBE SHOOTING OF YANK SOLDIER

Nuernberg, Germany, June 8 (AP)—U. S. Army officials investigated today the fatal shooting of an American soldier by an army lieutenant.

The provost marshal's office said Pvt. Ralph J. Light, Myerstown, Pa., was shot to death last Saturday night. No charges have yet been preferred and the lieutenant was released to his commanding officer pending completion of the investigation.

Officials said the shooting occurred after Light slapped the officer's wife and called her insulting names.

According to the official account, the lieutenant and his wife were driving through a one-way street in the Nuernberg suburb of Puertn when they were stopped by a man who told them they were driving the wrong way.

While they were stopped, officials said, Light stepped up to their car and began insulting the officer's wife, finally slapping her face.

When the lieutenant got out of the car, Light slapped him. Then, officials related, the officer produced a pistol and Light fled, with the lieutenant in pursuit. Light was shot, officials said, when the lieutenant cornered him in the rear yard of a German beer hall.

Snyder directed the chorus and Mrs. J. Robert Sell served as pianist.

Rev. Reynolds Speaks

The speaker for the ladies' night program was the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed church, who spoke on "Sabbath Observance." The speaker traced the history of the sabbath from the early Jewish Sabbath to the present. "Social issues have caused problems for the Sabbath Day," he said. "We should use the Sabbath Day to strengthen the family ties; to share the mutual woes, burdens and problems of our neighbor; and to study some of the appalling conditions in society. The Sabbath problem can be solved if we solve these social problems about us."

The Men's chorus then sang, "Sweet and Low" and "Vive L'Amour" and as an encore, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Following these selections, the refreshment committee served ice cream and strawberries. The committee included Richard Stultz, Harry T. Harner and George Strevig. Assisting Mr. Stover on the program committee were Ernest R. Sentz and Noah Strevig.

Fighters Assured Of Paying Battle

Newark, N. J., June 8 (AP)—The "seven millionaires" who are promoting the third Rocky Graziano-Tony Zale fight here tomorrow night won't get richer but Rocky and Tony will do all right.

A little matter of a guarantee posted in New Jersey assures Graziano, the middleweight champ, of at least $120,000. The ex-champ from Gary, Ind., will get $60,000 or more. Neither Graziano nor Zale are close to the Dempsey-Tunney payoffs but they should have a little stacked away for their old age. In the first fight they each took down $78,892. As defending champ in Chicago last July, Zale was paid $152,968 and the Rock $76,484.

These figures add up in a nice neighborhood. For Zale it's $231,860 for two starts and $155,376 for Graziano.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)
A full schedule of games was carded for tonight in the eastern baseball league, following postponement of all games last night because of rain.

The league-leading Scranton Miners, hard-pressed by the Albany Senators and the Williamsport Tigers, will open a four-game series with the last-place Elmira Pioneers at Scranton. The Senators will meet the Utica Blue Sox at Albany and the Tigers will entertain the Wilkes-Barre Barons.

In tonight's game at Scranton, Pete Gray, one-armed outfielder for the Pioneers, will be honored by Lackawanna County, Pa., fans. Gray is a native of Nanticoke, Pa. Gray, the only one-armed player ever to perform in the major leagues, will be presented a gift by Andy Turko of Olyphant, Pa.

He played on amateur teams managed by Turko in 1937 and 1938. He then jumped to professional baseball and played with the St. Louis Browns in 1945.

Citation Gives Opposition Scare

New York, June 8 (AP)—Officials of the Westchester Racing association were scaping the bottom of the three-year-old barrel today for a few courageous colts to oppose Citation in the $100,000 Belmont stakes.

At the moment they're hopeful that five or six might forget the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and other Citation romps long enough to try another fling with the Calumet farm star Saturday.

Five horses chased Citation home in the Derby, three followed suit in the Preakness. The big question at the moment seems to be how many will venture against the great son of Bull Lea in the mile and one-half Belmont.

GEORGE SISLER DEFEATS CARDS; GIANTS IN LEAD

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It never fails—trade away a guy and he comes back to make you rue the day.

Eddie Dyer, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is the latest to feel the wrath of a discarded player. Dyer must have had moments of regret last night when Dick Sisler, former Redbird first baseman, cracked two home runs to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-1 victory over the Cardinals.

Sisler was traded by Dyer to the Phillies just before the opening of the season for infielder Ralph LaPointe after he lost out as regular first baseman to Nippy Jones.

Giants Beat Pirates
The son of baseball's immortal George Sisler not only whipped his former mates single-handedly by adding a single to his pair of round trippers and driving in four runs, but knocked the Cards right out of the National League lead.

St. Louis' loss together with the New York Giants' 9-5 victory over the Pirates in Pittsburgh, dropped the Cards into second place, half a game behind the Giants.

The Giants climbed back into the lead by clubbing Kirby Higbe and Elmer Singleton for 13 hits, nine of them for extra bases. After the Pirates had overcome deficits three times to pull even 5-5 at the end of seven innings, the Giants finally moved ahead to stay when Bobby Thomson whacked a two-run homer in the eighth.

Jim Russell blasted two home runs and two doubles to lead the Boston Braves to a 9-5 victory over the Cubs in Chicago. Russell drove in five runs and scored three himself. The homers were Nos. 6 and 7 for him.

Yankees Upset
In the American league, the St. Louis Browns upset the New York Yankees at Yankee stadium, 5-3, to snap their six-game losing streak.

Rookie Rightlander Ned Garver went the route for the first time this season, scattering 11 hits. Johnny Lindell and Phil Rizzuto hit homers for the Yankees and Paul Lehner slammed one for the Browns. Frank (Spec) Shea was the loser.

The defeat dropped the third place Yankees three and a half games behind the league leading Cleveland Indians.

The Senators rolled to a 7-1 victory over the last place Chicago White Sox in a night game at Washington. The game was halted by rain with the Senators at bat in the last half of the seventh.

Rain caused the postponement of scheduled games between the Cleveland Indians and Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit and the Boston Red Sox. Brooklyn and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

The Lancaster Red Roses, interstate league club affiliated with the Brooklyn Dodgers, defeated the Allentown Cardinals 7-4 last night with Branch Rickey, head of the Brooklyn farm system an interested spectator.

The Sunbury Reds, pushed out of a first place tie by the pace setting Wilmington Blue Rocks over the past week-end, gained back a half game by defeating Harrisburg 6-5 as the Wilmington-Trenton contest was rained out.

The York White Roses swept their four-game series with the last place Hagerstown Owls, winning the final game of the series last night 9-5. York catcher Tom Sheehan hit a pair of homers, one with a man on base to aid the visitors' cause.

Today's games: Hagerstown at Allentown, Sunbury at Trenton, Lancaster at York, and Wilmington at Harrisburg.

York Springs Nine Plays Here Tonight

This evening the first of the scheduled twilight games in the Adams County Baseball league will be played.

Manager "Slim" Johnson's Gettysburg Legion outfit will be host to York Springs on the high school field at 6 o'clock. The locals are determined to get back on their winning stride after suffering a pair of setbacks over the week-end while York Springs will be scrapping to remain in the first division.

It has been announced that as soon as a bit of construction work is completed on the Gettysburg college field, the Legion will play future home games on that field.

Other games carded for this evening include Hanover at Ortianna, Fairfield at New Oxford, Littlestown at McSherrystown, and Bendersville at Emmitsburg.

The Calumet stable didn't win an important race last week and owner Warren Wright probably needs that $80,000 or so . . . the Belmont publicity department lists eight winners of the celebrated stake which won a total of $1,619,706 during their racing careers.

Brooklyn fans still are beefing about the way Leo Durocher keeps shifting his Dodger players around. New York, June 8 (AP)—Tommy Holmes, hard-hitting outfielder of the Boston Braves, boasted his biggest margin of the season as he paced all National league batters with a .385 average for 30 games, official averages based on games through last Sunday showed today.

Although he dropped nine points during the past week, Holmes actually gained on his nearest pursuers who tumbled down the ladder. Holmes' .385 is 17 points better than the runner-up figure posted by rookie outfielder Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies.

STORM KILLS MAN; 4 HURT

Chicago, June 8 (AP)—The storm which killed one person, injured at least four others and left about 20 families homeless in Henryville, Ind., yesterday, had blown itself out today.

The weather bureau said, however, that another storm area was moving southeastward across Lake Huron, surrounded by an area of showers and thunderstorms over most of Michigan, the lower Lakes Region and scattered sections of the Appalachians and North Atlantic States.

The tornado which struck Henryville destroyed more than 20 houses and barns, damaged two churches, partially unroofed the high school building and leveled communications. The twister appeared to have been the center of an area of thunderstorms which extended through southern Illinois, Indiana and lower Michigan.

The storm was described as severe at Anderson, Ind., and at South Bend the wind was measured at 51 miles an hour. Hailstones as much as an inch and a half in diameter were reported to have fallen at Goshen, Ind.

MURDER TRIAL NEARING CLOSE

Harrisburg, June 8 (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women made ready today to deliberate the fate of 51-year-old George Minoff charged with the pistol slaying of two men in a Steeltown church.

Judge W. C. Sheely, of nearby Adams county, specially presiding at the trial, prepared to sum up the case for the jury before ordering it to return a verdict.

Minoff testified yesterday that he fired the death shots because "I was afraid for my life."

Minoff, who is charged with first degree murder in the slayings, said a group of men arguing over selection of a new pastor for the Bulgarian-Macedonian church set upon him and started beating him.

The accused man said he then fired the two death shots, but declared only "in self defense." He said he did not see at whom he was shooting because his eyes were blinded by blood from a head wound.

Opposing counsel both differed sharply on the reasons for Minoff's action. District Attorney Carl B. Shelley told the jury that Minoff's action showed "malice and intent to murder." However, Walter Compton, defense counsel, said the defendant fired only in "self defense."

Chapter 30

Hildred spent that Saturday afternoon with Lucien and Jimmy. She could not have spent it alone, waiting for the wire Randy had promised to send as soon as the operation was over. She must spend it as if she were not waiting—otherwise she would not have got through that time at all.

When she and Lucien were alone—Hildred told him that she would marry him.

"There's something I want you to do for me," she said.

"You know, without naming it, that I will gladly grant any request of yours, my sweet," he looked up long enough to flash her a smile.

"It's about Jimmy. I am sure I have found the best—the right solution."

"She had decided to make the telling seem to be her decision, rather than explain that Robin had come to her first."

"You know I feel that he should be adopted, Lucien, legally, so that his whole future will be the same."

"Well," she drew a long breath—"I talked with Robin—you know how fond he and Ellen are of the boy—and it seems they both had already had that idea—that they would like to adopt him."

"You believe that would be better for the boy than for him to stay on with me?"

"I believe so." Her look did not waver. "In fact, I believe it so much that, well, I am willing to marry you, Lucien, if you will agree—and help make it possible."

There! She had said it!

"You mean that?"

"I give you my word," Hildred answered.

"That is good enough for me," Lucien said. He did not come over to her now, as she had supposed he would. He surprised her even more, by adding, "I agree it will be best for Jimmy. Liz and I would ruin him between us. He should grow up to be a fine man—her to know that you are the one a sane, normal man—with Robin and Ellen to guide him."

"I am glad you see it that way."

She could let out her breath now, slowly. That, then, was settled—and it was a solution to which Randy, also, would agree.

And this made it stranger still that Lucien should speak of him now.

"How about that doctor of yours, the one so young, so handsome? You have found, then, that you did not love him as much as you thought? You do not mind—you will not regret putting him out of your heart—your life forever?"

He had said he did not care if Hildred loved someone else; but she saw that he did. Lucien was only human, after all. She would have to be honest with him, yet she could make it as gentle as possible.

"I will put him out of life and heart," she said making it a vow unto herself. For she would do that no matter what it might cost her, once she became Lucien's wife. She had not said that she did not love Randy; she would love him always.

Still she could not tell, from Lucien's face, what his thoughts were. But now he did come over to her; he sat down beside her, but he did not take her two hands in his as he usually was wont to do. He did not offer to touch her, though she had just promised to marry him. His dark eyes had that intent look, almost that brooding shadow of tragedy. He said, "I will do my best, my utmost, Hildred, my beloved, to make you happy."

"I know you will." Her eyes returned his look.

"May I tell my mother?" Lucien asked permission now, when before always he had issued a command.

"This will make her very happy. She knew, of course, that we were practically betrothed—you wearing the brooch the other night at dinner—but I want now who has confirmed our engagement."

"I don't see any reason why we should not tell her," Hildred agreed. And then he smiled at her once more; he caught up her hands and pressed them, fiercely, fervently, to his lips.

Afterwards she was to recall that that was their betrothal kiss. Would she ever understand, or know him?

It was Ellen who brought the message. But it was not a telegram. Ellen announced that there was a gentleman to see Miss McNaughten. And before either Hildred or Lucien could ask—who it was, Randy stepped into the room.

Hildred's surprise was so great that she could not believe her eyes, or find even a word of greeting. And then, seeing Randy's face, she knew why he was here—why he had come, himself, instead of wiring. It was written in the firm line of his stern jaw, the resolute set of his fine mouth; it was in the steadfast regard of his clear gray eyes.

Without thinking, without words, Hildred got up and went to him. Straight into his arms, that opened to receive her as if they had been waiting just for that. She buried her head against his chest; she clung to him, as a child might have as if he were her strength, her rock, as indeed he was in this moment.

"You know then, Hildred?" His voice was very gentle, very tender for him; one of his hands stroked her fair, bent head; the other arm held her fast, tightly against him.

"There is no need for me to tell you."

"Yes . . . I know . . ." Yet, she did not. She knew that her mother was dead. But she could not know it, in its fullest sense of reality—not yet, anyway. That would have to come more slowly, as this numbness that seized her, choking all emotion, all thought, gradually drifted away.

Chapter 31

"I came as soon and as quickly as I could," Randy said. He spoke only to Hildred, still held against him, his voice was so low that it was only for her. But of course he was aware of Lucien, standing apart in that beautiful yellow room filled with the soft hush of twilight.

"I know . . ." Hildred murmured, for she had known that Randy would stand by her in this; she had known she could count on his friendship, his strength.

"There was something she said to me," Randy continued. "It was a sort of message, I think, Hildy. She asked me to tell you not to forget. She did not say what it was, but I think she knew that you would understand."

Hildred nodded her head; she could not manage ever to murmur a reply in answer to that.

"And she told me something else," Randy continued. "That I will tell you later—when we are alone."

His eyes, so clear, so direct, met the gaze of Lucien's dark ones over Hildred's bent, bright head.

Hildred raised her head now; she would have stepped back, out of Randy's encircling arms, but they held her so that she could not, and he saw the shadow of that dark tragedy in them—but then, almost as quickly she saw it pass away. She said, "Thank you, Lucien." There was nothing more she could say just then. She wondered what he had meant, but he always talked in such a way that it was difficult to comprehend his full meaning. And she could not think now—she could not even feel. If only the tears would come . . .

Lucien spoke for the first time. He came forward to stand beside them. He said, "I want you to know how deeply I feel for you, Hildred. I know how deep your loss, your sorrow is. Always, at such a time, one wishes there was something one could say—or do. This is the one time when there is."

"It is that you are free," Lucien said. And his dark eyes smiled intently—deeply, intently, as only Lucien's could. "I give you your freedom, my sweet. I know I also give you the happiness that I never could have bought for you—no, not with all the Lanier millions."

"Lucien . . . you . . . Hildred did manage to draw away from Randy now. She saw the look in Lucien's eyes—another look in them—one as clear, as direct, as untroubled as the look of a man made new, or of a child that had never tasted bitterness. "You don't have to say that—you don't have to give it to me," she meant, as she knew he would know, that she still would keep her word, she still would marry him. She knew that he would understand, though of course Randy would not, since Randy could not know what they were talking about.

Lucien shook his dark head. "I see too clearly now—not through a glass, darkly."

She thought she did understand now. Lucien meant that he had come to realize that she would never be able to love him. He had realized, too, that there could be no happiness in such a marriage.

Now Lucien looked at Randy, spoke to him. He said, "I will leave you two alone—so that you may tell her what it was her mother said at the last. Tell her well, Doctor Baird. And be sure that you take care of her, always."

With that Lucien turned quickly and left the room.

Randy drew her back into his arms. "You heard what he said?" Randy's clear eyes were looking deeply into hers once more. They were as clear, as gray, as always, but they held much more than the gentleness, the strength of him. They held the same look she had surprised in them a few, rare times before he had managed to remove it.

"It was the same thing your mother told me. That I must take care of you, Hildy. And that I must tell you how much, how very, very much, my dearest darling, I love you."

But Randy could not be saying that! Or at least he could not mean it; he could not have discovered it, at long last.

"I have always loved you," Randy said. His one free hand took hold of her chin, tilting back her fair head so that her blue eyes must meet his. And his love was there for her to see.

"I thought I had lost you," he finished. "Until your mother told me that you do love me."

"I do love you," Hildred said. She said it bravely, through the tears for her mother that she had wanted to come, bringing release from the awful numbness that had gripped her.

Now she could keep her promise to her mother. She could be constant to herself, her beliefs and ideals—her way of life. They would go on in their work together, she and Randy, as they always had. Even Jimmy would be all right, for she knew that Lucien still would make it possible for Robin and Ellen to keep him. Lucien would be all right, too—she had seen that in the new look of strength in his eyes.

"Then I shan't save it any longer."

OUT-OF-STATE DIVORCE SAFE

Washington, June 8 (AP)—You can get a pretty safe out-of-state divorce if the judge gives your husband or wife a full chance to argue the question of "quicker" legal releases.

That's the Supreme Court's pronouncement on what has been one of the most complex problems in state and federal courts.

Chief Justice Vinson announced the 7 to 2 decision late yesterday. He based the far-reaching ruling on the Constitution's requirement that each state must give full faith and credit to the official acts of other states.

Vinson said Massachusetts courts erred in labeling as "no good" divorces obtained by Margaret Sherrer in Florida and by Mrs. Katherine C. Coe in Reno.

It is not the business of the Supreme court, the Chief Justice said, to weigh the merits of Florida, Nevada and Massachusetts divorce policies. But if the spouse sued for divorce gets due process of law in a competent state court, that is enough, Vinson decreed.

The full faith and credit clause, he went on, was designed by the founding fathers as one of the provisions needed to weld a group of independent sovereign states into one nation. If, in applying the clause, some local policy must at times give way that "is part of the price of our federal system."

Hometown Honors Sgt. J. Basilone

Raritan, N. J., June 8 (AP)—A hero's hometown paid permanent homage on Sunday by unveiling a life-sized statue to the nation's first enlisted Marine to win the Medal of Honor in World War II, Gunner Sgt. John Basilone.

Some 10,000 persons turned out to dedicate the memorial showing the local sergeant in fighting uniform with a cartridge belt slung over one shoulder and a machine gun cradled in his arms.

He had won the Congressional Medal on Guadalcanal and then volunteered for a second tour of duty in the Pacific. He died then on Iwo Jima.

Judge Kenyon Is Speaker At Wilson

Chambersburg, Pa., June 8 (AP)—Judge Dorothy Kenyon, of New York City, said Monday any "head-on attempt" to change United Nations machinery might cause a "serious split" between the United States and Russia.

Judge Kenyon, a United States delegate to the UN commission on the status of women, said any changes must be brought about gradually.

"There's too much prestige, too much face saving involved. You can't get nations to eat their words all at once," she said in a speech prepared for delivery at the 78th Wilson college commencement.

SENATORS DIFFER

Washington, June 8 (AP)—Pennsylvania Senators Martin (R) and Myers (D) differed yesterday as the senate wrote into its selective service bill a provision to outlaw the poll tax as a condition to voting in federal elections by members of the armed forces. Senator Martin voted with the majority. Myers opposed the amendment.

Randy said, with infinite tenderness, "I am asking you, and for the last time, Hildy, if you will have me? I not only need you, we not only share the same interests, the same purpose in living and serving, but I want you, just because you are I—and no other."

He drew her closer and kissed away the tears that coursed down her cheeks, until his mouth found hers.

And then, since she had had to wait so long for this awakening, Hildred forgot everything else for this one ecstatic moment with Randy's lips against her own, his heart beating beneath hers in their true love that was the strongest of all the cords that bound them together.

(THE END)

Midshipmen On Annual Cruise

Norfolk, Va., June 8 (AP)—United States naval academy midshipmen, 2,400 strong, sailed yesterday on their annual cruise to foreign waters.

With them were 723 members of Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit from 11 colleges, 560 reserve officers and navy enlisted reserves and 25 cadets of the U. S. military academy class of 1948. Inand their parents are invited to attend. It was decided to hold the weekly meetings of each den in the pack, jointly during the remainder of June and during July. Each den will meet every Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock on the local playground. In case of rain the meetings will be held the following day or the first clear day thereafter at the same time and place. The July pack meeting will be in the form of a family picnic, to be held at Caledonia park on Wednesday, July 14. The picnic supper will be served at 7 o'clock and the cubs, den mothers, den chiefs and those parents who may desire, will spend the afternoon at Caledonia. It was also decided to discontinue the regular den meeting and pack meeting during the month of August. The regular schedule will be resumed in the fall with a pack meeting on Tuesday, September 14.

Susan Elaine Oster, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Oster, "M" street, was baptized on Sunday morning in St. Aloysius church by the pastor, the Rev. Fr. George A. Lavelle. and Mr. Ware guaranteed completion within the $75,000.

The report of the special committee further said:

"Mr. Ware consented to make the bonds callable, the B bonds to be called only after all A bonds had been called and paid. He further stated that the operation contract would automatically terminate when all of the B bonds had been called and paid.

"It is our understanding that Mr. Ware would guarantee that the A bonds would sell at par with interest not to exceed three per cent and that Mr. Ware would take the issue at three per cent. The terms of the bonds would be 40 years."

The committee held several meetings and visited other cities in Pennsylvania which have purchased their water companies from Mr. Ware's corporation, and also conferred with water authority engineers.

"We discussed every phase of the proposed agreement which has heretofore been discussed with the committee." Mr. Hoffman's report said.

MANY SPEAKERS

York City, executive secretary of the Board of Social Missions of the United Lutheran church in America; Rev. Harold C. Letts, New York City, secretary for Social Action; Rev. Dr. W. Roy Hashinger, president of the West Virginia Synod and Rev. Donald R. Poole, Wesleyville, as speakers.

Proof Was Success

Wednesday morning Dr. Harvey D. Hoover, of the local seminary, will have matins, and Doctor Koch will speak on "Bases for Social Action." Officers will be elected and Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman will conduct closing devotions.

"Theological thinking helps to develop economic thinking and economic thinking has an influence on theology," Doctor Paulsen declared Monday night in discussing what "individualistic Protestantism has to offer to a world apparently bent on collectivism." She presented a theory that modern capitalism grew from Calvinism. "Calvin's teaching that all men are predestined to salvation or damnation led in time to a desire among Calvinists to have some proof of who were the elect. Since Calvinism also taught that work was good in itself, and that all enjoyment was sinful a good Calvinist could not help but become wealthy. All he could do was work, which earned money, and he could spend it for no enjoyment. Obviously, those who followed Calvin felt, the proof of God's blessing was success, success in social, family and economic life. The person who was poor and for whom all things went wrong obviously was one condemned to eternal damnation.

"New Religion"

"And thus Calvinists, in general proved more successful and more acquisitive than Lutherans or Catholics for example, whose teaching was that man is sinful and only by admission of sin can one obtain salvation. Where Calvinism came to find the acquisitive instinct good, other religions were suspicious of that instinct.

"Yet capitalism has become a religion of its own in western civilization and substitutes for religion for millions. And because of this competition 20th century capitalism has contaminated the teaching of many denominations.

"Karl Marx did one good thing, he led others to think about capitalism and to study where we are going."

Marxism, she warned, "is a new and very powerful religion. The early Christians met in cells, and spread their influence by working together as groups—the Marxists organization begins with cells. Christianity teaches salvation—so does Marxism, but of a different sort. Russia is the great tragedy of the Christian teaching of sinful mankind. He held that when capitalism was gone man would become free and good. In Russia it was found that man did not become good, and the Russians decided on change by force and thus those who were to be freed became slaves."

STATE FAVORS

Members of the council and the borough engineer will meet next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock to make an inspection of the streets and alleys and investigate complaints, and members urged residents to make their complaints before the inspection so they can be investigated at that time.

Dr. Bruce N. Wolff was spokesman for a delegation which asked that Hay street between West Middle street and Buford avenue be improved. Dr. Wolff said the street was dusty in summer and muddy and filled with ruts in winter, that water stands in the gutters and soaks into surrounding property. The matter was referred to the highway committee. Borough Engineer Wimbrenner was directed to have a new sewer line laid before paving the street.

Complaints were received of water seeping into cellars on Ridge avenue; Attorney Daniel E. Teeter appeared before council to ask that a property owner on Queen street be compelled to place a sidewalk; Burgess Heiges said complaints were received of water on property on Seminary avenue. A report that Clyde Berger, Carlisle street, had refused to lay a new sidewalk was referred to the highway committee. The borough engineer reported that work on West Middle street would be started by June 15. A petition was received from nine property owners on Highland avenue for a sidewalk. The borough engineer was directed to pave Highland avenue from Johns street to the Troxell house.

Buy More Meters

Council authorized the purchase of 40 additional Miller parking meters. They will be installed in the second block of York street. It also authorized the purchase of a new centrifugal pump, for pumping out sewers, from the Homelite corporation, Fort Chester, N. Y., for $262. The engineer reported it would cost $120 to fix the old one. Harold McElroy appeared before council to ask the cost of connecting his property in Cumberland township north of Broadway with the borough sewer line. An ordinance provides that the property owner pay the cost of the new sewer and $100 to tap it.

Council received a letter from the state sanitary water board extending the time to July 1 for completion of plans for a secondary unit at the sewage disposal plant. The original order was issued January 23, 1946. No action was taken on a complaint of parking on Railroad street.

A proposed new building code, setting up rigid standards of fireproof construction, presented by the ordinance committee was referred back to this committee for action at a later date.

Bible School In New Oxford Opens

The Daily Vacation Bible school which has been conducted in New Oxford each June for the past several years under the sponsorship of the Protestant churches, was opened Monday morning at the Reformed church building.

The classes are to proceed each morning except Saturday and Sunday until the closing day, Friday, June 18.

Mrs. Martin Fleagle and Miss Gwendolyn Hamm are teachers of the four-to-six year old group. Children from six to nine years are in a class taught by Mrs. Preston B. Dallmyer. Mrs. Aaron Pressel is teaching those between the ages of nine and twelve, while the eldest group from 12 to 16 are being instructed by the Rev. George E. Sheffer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, New Oxford.

PLAY PROGRAM

ough council to carry on the playground each summer.

"During the war years someone suggested winter recreation for youth and the result was the Teen Canteen which met at various times at the Shetter house, the old Citizens Trust building, the high school and the YWCA."

Secure Director

"There was much discussion about three or four playgrounds in various sections of town, and for establishment of a year around program of recreation for the borough. Some of us visited other cities to find out what facilities they had and what could be adapted to our situation here. We found out that we could obtain a full time recreation director with the state paying, in our case, over 75 per cent of his salary.

"The result was the recreation association as we have it today—the basis for something very worthwhile. And we must pay tribute to the town council, school board, and the individuals and organizations of the town who had the vision to carry the plan through to realization. We are the smallest community in the state with a year around program and we are fortunate in being able to secure Paul Whitmoyer as director.

"And the best part of the story lies in the future. We have great possibilities here. Already the recreation association owns property which can be developed into a splendid public park. We need indoor facilities which we do not have, we hope eventually to have a number of playgrounds in various parts of the town.

Program For All

"The recreation program is planned not only for youth, but for all. We have an eye on the poor forgotten folks at the county home and hope that soon we can extend the recreation program to include them. One lady from the county home brought into town by car to see the lights at Christmas time burst into tears. It was the first time she had been out of the county home in 15 years. They are truly the forgotten ones.

"This is an adult world, but we have a chance to do something for our children. The men of the town have provided gloriously for themselves and we have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to provide for our social and fraternal adult enjoyment.

Urges Expansion

"But no community has the right to spend so much for its own enjoyment and let the problem of children be carried out by the children themselves.

"Let us let the solid foundation of social and fraternal life that we have in this community be one basis for pushing ahead a program for youth.

"My hope is that the organizations, individuals and churches of the community will continue and expand the program of youth construction that has been begun—we can do wonders if we will."

Fifty-six attended the Rotary session at which the vice president, Mares Sherman, presided. Dr. Frederick Tilberg announced that a joint meeting between the Gettysburg, Littleton and Hanover clubs will be held next Monday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the Hotel Gettysburg. At that session Dr. Allen Stockdale, of the National Association of Manufacturers will be the speaker.

attended the bride as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Catherine Dennison, Falls Creek, Pa., and Miss Mildred Devlin, Phoenixville, Pa. The matron of honor wore a light green off-the-shoulder gown of mousseline-de-soie with fitted bodice and full skirt. The bridesmaids wore lavender gowns of the same style and material. Their headresses were picture hats matching their gowns in color and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow daisies and mixed spring flowers.

Special Music

Russell Waddell, brother of the groom, served as best man, and the ushers were Harold and Donald Waddell, also brothers of the groom. Before the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ecker, York Springs R. D., presented a 15 minute recital. Mrs. Ecker sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." Mr. Ecker played the traditional wedding marches as the processional and recessional. During the ceremony Mrs. Ecker sang "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Ecker wore a yellow gown similar to that of the attendants with a matching corsage.

The bride's mother wore a black print dress with white accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds. The groom's mother wore a pink dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The church was decorated with white candelabra, white gladioli in the altar vases, palms, pink and white roses and peonies.

The bride was graduated from the Gettysburg high school, class of 1943, and from Temple University School of Nursing in 1946. She has been working there since her graduation and will continue in the fall.

Reception Held

The groom was graduated from Pleasantville high school in 1939 and from Grove City college in 1943. During the war he served three years as a bomber pilot in the European Theater and was discharged as a first lieutenant. He is now attending Temple University Medical school where he will continue his studies in September.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the New Chester Memorial hall which was decorated in lavender, yellow and green streamers and spring flowers. A four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom formed the centerpiece on the bride's table. A buffet supper was served.

The couple left on a week's honeymoon to an unannounced destination. The bride's going away outfit was a dusty rose suit with blue accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds removed from her bridal bouquet.

After their return they will reside in Philadelphia.
